The Christmas holiday season is divided into two parts. In odd-numbered years, Home Parent will have the child for the first half of the holiday period, and even-numbered years they will have the child for the second half of the holiday period. Co-Parent will have possession of the child for the other half of the Christmas vacation. The second half of the vacation begins at noon on December 28.

Important Notes:

Spring Break in even years:

Co-Parent has possession of the children beginning at 6pm on the day the children are dismissed from school before the vacation, and ending at 6pm on the day before school resumes after the break.

Spring Break in odd years:

Home Parent has possession of the children beginning at 6pm on the day the children are dismissed from school before the vacation, and ending at 6pm on the day before school resumes after the break.

Summer:

If Co-Parent gives Home Parent written notice by April 1, the Co-Parent can specify 30 days in the summer that don't interfere with holiday visits. If the Co-Parent does not give notice, the default summer possession period is July 1 - July 31, beginning and ending at 6pm. (If the Home Parent gives the Co-Parent written notice by April 15, the Home Parent can have possession of the children any one weekend during Co-Parent's summer possession beginning and ending at 6pm, provided the Home Parent picks up and returns the children to the Co-Parent.)

If Home Parent gives Co-Parent written notice by April 15, Home Parent may choose 21 days (after the children are dismissed from school for summer, and before the seven days before school resumes) to be exercised in not more than two separate periods of at least 7 consecutive days, with each period beginning and ending at 6pm, provided it doesn't interfere with Co-Parent's holidays or summer possession.
